Why Was Sarepta Sued for Securities Fraud?

Sarepta is a biopharmaceutical company focused on developing treatments for rare diseases. Sarepta’s most important product is Elevidys, a therapy for the treatment of Duchenne muscular dystrophy. As alleged, Sarepta repeatedly touted the safety profile of Elevidys and told investors that the benefits of the treatment outweighed its risks.

In truth, Elevidys causes fatal acute liver failure in some patients.

The Stock Declines as the Truth Is Revealed

On March 18, 2025, Sarepta announced that a patient that had been treated with Elevidys died after suffering acute liver failure. On this news, the price of Sarepta stock fell $27.81 per share, or over 27%, from $101.35 per share on March 17, 2025, to $73.54 per share on March 18, 2025. Nevertheless, on the same day, Sarepta assured investors that “the benefit-risk of ELEVIDYS remains positive.”

Next, on April 4, 2025, Sarepta revealed that European Union member country authorities requested that an independent data monitoring committee meet to review the circumstances of the death of the patient. As a result, Sarepta temporarily paused recruitment and dosing in some Elevidys clinical studies. On this news, the price of Sarepta stock fell $4.18 per share, or more than 7%, from $58.61 per share on April 3, 2025, to $54.43 per share on April 4, 2025.

Then, on June 15, 2025, Sarepta announced that a second patient treated with Elevidys had died from acute liver failure. The company further announced that because of the second death, it was suspending certain shipments of Elevidys and halted dosing in an ongoing clinical trial of the treatment. On this news, the price of Sarepta stock fell $15.24 per share, or more than 42%, from $36.18 per share on June 13, 2025, to $20.94 per share on June 16, 2025.

On June 24, 2025, the FDA issued a Safety Communication announcing that it was investigating the deaths and was evaluating the need for further regulatory action. On this news, the price of Sarepta stock fell $1.52 per share, more than 8%, from $18.98 per share on June 24, 2025, to $17.46 per share on June 25, 2025.

Most recently, on July 17, 2025, Sarepta revealed that a third patient treated with one of Sarepta's investigational treatments related to Elevidys had died from acute liver failure in June 2025. On this news, the price of Sarepta stock fell more than 40% on July 18, 2025. On this news, the price of Sarepta stock fell more than 40% on July 18, 2025.
