

BFA Founder Javier Bleichmar Speaks on the Securities Litigation Panel at NAPPA

On June 27, 2024, BFA Founder and Partner Javier Bleichmar spoke as a panelist member on the Securities Litigation Panel at the National Association of Public Pension Attorneys' 2024 Legal Education Conference. Alongside distinguished guests and practitioners, Javier shared insights into the development and management of effective securities litigation programs, while also highlighting the importance of global shareholder litigation and the rapidly expanding complexities facing the legal landscape today. "The importance of having institutional investors serve as lead plaintiff cannot be underestimated," Javier highlighted, "particularly in cases that are small or medium size, but that are very strong on the merits, given that over $1 billion were recovered in 2023 in these types of cases."

This premier educational event is designed to provide members an opportunity to meet peers while discussing current issues facing the industry, and to share practical solutions to common legal problems.
