

U.S. Securities Litigation

BFA's U.S. Securities Litigation practice is built on a foundation of selectivity, strategic insight, and a relentless commitment to maximizing value for institutional investors. We represent some of the world's largest pension funds, sovereign wealth funds, and retirement systems, as well as individual investors—clients who rely on us for candid guidance and sophisticated advocacy in high-stakes securities litigation matters.

A Strategic, Selective Approach

At BFA, we choose quality over quantity. Every potential case undergoes a rigorous evaluation focused on legal merit, recovery potential, and alignment with our clients' long-term interests. This disciplined approach allows us to dedicate substantial resources to each matter, ensuring that every recommendation—whether to move for lead plaintiff, pursue an opt-out, or continue monitoring—is made with integrity and with the client's reputation at the forefront.

Relentless Advocacy, Proven Results

Our team is recognized for its ability to litigate aggressively and creatively against formidable corporate defendants. BFA consistently ranks among the top firms nationwide for securities recoveries, routinely achieving results that far exceed industry averages. Our trial-tested attorneys are known for their tenacity and for securing outcomes that set new standards for shareholder recoveries.

Client-Centered Counsel

We understand the reputational and operational stakes for institutional investors. BFA's client-first philosophy means we are more than litigators—we are long-term counselors, providing clear, actionable advice and minimizing disruption throughout the litigation process. Our approach is defined by transparency, open communication, and an unwavering commitment to ethical advocacy.

A Trusted Partner to Leading Investors

BFA is proud to serve as a trusted advisor to many of the most sophisticated institutional investors in the U.S. and Canada, and throughout the world. Our reputation for excellence stems from our ability to deliver exceptional results, our focus on quality over quantity, and our dedication to protecting clients' interests at every stage.
