Alessandra (Sasha) Slayton is an associate at BFA, and her practice focuses on prosecuting complex securities and shareholder derivative suits.

Sasha has experience representing clients in a broad range of complex commercial and statutory litigation matters, including contract, investment, and intellectual property disputes. She has also litigated actions involving business torts, fraud, breach of fiduciary duty, and bankruptcy. Sasha is currently a member of the teams prosecuting securities class action cases against Citigroup, Talis, TaskUs, the Toronto-Dominion Bank, Twist, and Bioventus.

Prior to joining BFA, Sasha was an associate at a well-known litigation firm, where she worked on securities litigation, intellectual property litigation, and commercial litigation and disputes. Sasha earned her J.D. and M.B.A from Harvard University. Prior to graduate school, she served as an officer in the U.S. Army.
