Alhassan Bah is a data analyst at BFA, where he monitors and analyzes client exposure to financial fraud, and evaluates investment losses and potential opportunities for clients to serve as lead plaintiff.

In assessing client exposure, Alhassan evaluates recovery opportunities for clients based on court-approved loss methodologies for a wide variety of securities fraud allegations, and assists with determining client eligibility to participate in international securities cases and in class action settlements.

Prior to joining BFA, Alhassan was an analyst at a financial services firm.
